Modern Institute of Technology (MIT) aims to be a top center for sharing knowledge in life science, education, commerce, and Technology. The main goal is to create skilled professionals, who will lead in technological advancements to help humanity. To achieve this high standard, MIT's leadership and management are organized to support this vision through different practices and initiatives.

Our Vision:

To plan for action to achieve the pre-determined objectives of developing a premier institution of higher education in the state of Uttarakhand and upgrading it to the status of Deemed University.

Our Mission:

MIT was established in the year 2002 with the mission to:

1. Remove educational backwardness and disparities.
2. Impart quality education.
3. Impart higher education to the aspiring youths in information technology, biotechnology, microbiology, education & commerce.
4. Create awareness of higher education regarding research, training & extension education.
5. Provide accessibility to higher education for women.
6. Inculcate scientific temperament to the rural masses.
7. Motivate the younger generation to pursue self-employment through orientation and economically viable programs.
8. Make the students self-dependent and industrious.
9. Make students punctual, sincere, and active.
10. Make them good and worthy citizens.

The institute features a lush green environment with state-of-the-art infrastructure and high-quality learning resources. Highly qualified faculty deliver technological advancements, preparing students for careers in industry and academia. By implementing the National Educational Policy (NEP) as prescribed by HNBSGU and SDSVU, the Institute offers a dynamic curriculum with open electives and skill enhancement courses to boost global competitiveness. Beyond academics, students engage in various programs and Social Connect & Responsibilities per NEP guidelines. MIT's leadership prioritizes sustained growth through increased enrolment, expanded academic programs, quality faculty, and enhanced infrastructure, reflecting its forward-thinking approach.

Decentralization in institutional governance is a key part of MIT's strategy. By delegating decision-making authority to different levels, the institution establishes a more agile and effective governance structure. The active participation of all employees in institutional governance is a hallmark of MIT's leadership. Involvement from various stakeholders, including faculty, staff, and students, fosters a collaborative decision-making process. This inclusive governance structure reflects a commitment to transparency, fairness, and collective responsibility.

MIT leadership understands the importance of strategic planning. Creating and following short-term and long-term Institutional Perspective Plans helps the institution gradually progress toward its vision. These plans are flexible, adjusting to changes in the educational landscape and industry demands while maintaining the core vision.
